Letter

of the President

The spacecraft that has circled the far side of the moon has just arrived. Analysts say it is more a response to a competition between powers than a real interest in humanity. They have shown us images of great beauty of our planet.

A planet where around twenty thousand people die every day from lack of food, while others continue to speculate on basic grains to obtain maximum profits.

A planet where, while the space journey was taking place, the president of the country that built the feat threatened to destroy a "civilization".

A planet where Ukraine is invaded and a genocide continues against the Palestinian people, subjected to apartheid for decades.

A planet where self-serving and silenced wars are waged in Africa to continue neocolonial extractive policies.

A planet where almost everything depends on where you were born: in Sant Just, in a "slum" from Rio or to a town in South Sudan.

And the truth is that we cannot look to the future with optimism: the institutions that humanity endowed itself with after the Second World War to resolve conflicts through dialogue are experiencing the historical moment of greatest inoperability and irrelevance.

Faced with this panorama, today, from a humble NGO in our town, we present the work done in 2025 and the work plan that we are initiating with the proposals for 2026.

One can wonder what sense this makes in the current context. Well, as we have said on other occasions, it makes sense to maintain hope, to say from the deep in our spirit that we often don't know what we can do, but we do what we can, what is within our reach. And this small light is joined, complemented, by millions and millions of people everywhere, who often don't know how to act to change the world, but they do know that this is not the world we want.

We persist with our grain of sand to stop injustice and inequality, aggravated by the expansion of neoliberalism.

We continue with the Nicaraguan women exiled in Costa Rica, always the women, collaborating with their resistance, with their empowerment and with the education of their children.

We are starting, with great enthusiasm, a new project: a community garden with a well, managed by women. Located in a village called Ndiourbel, in central-west Senegal, dependent on subsistence agriculture with a major problem of water shortage outside the rainy season. A young man came out of there years ago with a "cayuca" to the Canary Islands. After a lot of effort, a lot of struggle to get by, he arrived in Sant Just, forming a family with a beautiful daughter.

Four young people from Ndiourbel They tried, like him, to cross the ocean and drowned. For all this, he turned to Sant Just Solidari to see how we could cooperate with his people of origin.

After many efforts, having gone to Senegal to talk to the local authority, to the women's association, and having studied the feasibility and self-sustainability, Sant Just Solidari begins its first project co-development (1).

It also continues, as it could not be otherwise, with another tricycle, financed by the social work of La Caixa: We already have five! We rebel against the exclusion of groups that suffer from unwanted loneliness. The almost one hundred volunteers work resolutely so that they feel part of the community again, enjoying the wind in their faces through the streets of our town, the neighboring towns and Barcelona. We recommend that you visit https://ebse.justsolidari.cat/histories_vida/ on our website where you will find "life stories" of the people we ride. They bring to light very interesting pages of life, written by a group of En Bici Sense Edat who are fans of writing.

Another novelty is "Xino-Xano", another project that is just starting and is also aimed at the elderly: it facilitates physical activity and promotes participation in society.

Let's shout out to rebellion, to nonconformism, for a fairer, less unequal, more supportive world.

Thanks for being there.

We continue

Louis Casals
President of Sant Just Solidari

(1) Form of development cooperation in which immigrant citizens actively contribute to the economic, social and cultural development of their countries of origin and the host society through projects and other activities..

Who We Are

The NGO SANT JUST SOLIDARI was born from another organization created in 1989, on the occasion of the Twinning of Sant Just Desvern with Camoapa, which was called the Local Twinning Committee. The latter exclusively managed the Twinning and, from the incorporation of members willing to work in other territories, in 1995 our organization was created to collect those solidarity initiatives that wanted to join it.

The history of SANT JUST SOLIDARI has been one of coordinated work with the Sant Just City Council, which has actively participated in the Association until 2017.

The financing of the Entity is based on the fees of the members, the contribution made by the Sant Just City Council for the Twinning, external funders who support our projects, donations and our own economic campaigns.

The Entity is made up of members who are called to meet in a General Assembly at least once a year, where the most important issues are approved. Every two years, ten people are elected to form the Board of Directors, which is the management body.

At the same time, the Entity is structured into Areas and Commissions to make its work more effective.

Our mission

Sant Just Solidari works for development of the different peoples through cooperation and the solidarity of people and entities.

How

the entity is notified

From the scope of Communication of Sant Just Solidari gives visibility to the life of the entity, focusing on the initiatives it promotes and the activities it develops. This task is specific to the generation and dissemination of content aimed at both members and all those interested in its action. The work is carried out in coordination with the other areas, with a particularly close relationship with the Awareness area. To get this information across, various channels and formats are used as the main communication spaces.

Newsletters LINK

In the monthly newsletter March we presented the documentary THE JOURNEY OF ITZA, which was produced with the collaboration of Sant Just Solidari. The film explains the situation of human rights violations in Nicaragua through the friendship between a Catalan journalist and The Itza, a young Nicaraguan woman fleeing political repression in her country.

In this same newsletter an EBSE volunteer shares a moment magical experienced by him, one of the many that the project gives to the users of the project.

In the June Baula A high school teacher gives us a glimmer of hope by explaining his educational experience with a group of 4th year secondary school students, after reflecting on diversity, hate speech, equality and respect. Despite contradictions, young people show a tendency towards a more inclusive coexistence. Their concerns - work, education, future, are shared - beyond apparent differences, and point to the need for collective responses.

How

the entity is notified

In a chat on "Africa in the new world order", in Xavier Aldekoa speaks of the Democratic Republic of Congo, where there is currently a conflict between the Congolese army and armed groups that has caused hundreds of thousands of displaced people.

From the words from Aldekoa we wanted to explain in the September Baula, the complicated situation in the country and denounce what experts and organizations such as the United Nations define as war crimes and crimes against humanity.

In the Baula of December, two fictional stories but that narrate true stories: Noemí, a young woman who had to go into exile in Costa Rica fleeing repression and who REMUPI, women organized to resist, to create a community, helped to move forward.

And Maria, a resident of Sant Just who regained some of her hope after being left alone and thinking she was sinking, when she learned about the EBSE program. Two endearing stories that make us believe in the power of solidarity.

How

the entity is notified

Website justsolidari.cat

The organization's website, justsolidari.cat, has been the subject of a comprehensive update during this period.

After several years of operation with an obsolete technical base—especially with regard to PHP versions that made maintenance and security difficult—its continuity was compromised.

Despite having several budgets with a high cost, it had not been possible to address its renovation until now.

Finally, thanks to the Kit Digital program, this update has been possible. The intervention has been mainly technical, with minor adjustments in design, focused on typography, navigability and improving the news section, thus guaranteeing optimal functioning in the long term.

Networks Social

At Sant Just Solidari we continue to publish on social networks

Facebook and X to communicate, share content and provide information. But Instagram is the network that allows us to give more visibility to our projects and our activities.

This is because it is done in a more visual and emotional way, sharing photos and videos and telling real stories, with features like stories or reels. We have seen an increase in the number of followers, which means we are reaching a wider audience and connecting with more people. It is clear that Instagram is particularly popular with young people.

Project Face to Face

The Vis a Vis project consists of visiting once a month people deprived of their liberty who have previously requested it. These visits help them not to lose contact with the outside world and to minimize the consequences of imprisonment.

The volunteers receive prior training on prison issues and relevant information about the cases they are going to visit from the referring technician.

This year the Coordinator has visited 132 prisoners, 29 of which were carried out by volunteers from Sant Just Solidari.

Currently, visits are made to the BRIANS 1, BRIANS 2, QUATRE CAMINS and LLEDONERS Penitentiary Centers.

Monthly, technical meetings are held specific to the project vis a vis. In these meetings, cases are monitored, doubts are raised, specific training is provided, etc.

Projects of cooperation

During 2025 We have continued to support Nicaraguan exiles, education in Gambia and have started a new project in Senegal.

- Nicaragua in Exile: The Daughters of the Corn.
- Gambia: Sexual and reproductive education.
- Senegal: Community Garden in Ndiourbel.

Nicaragua in exile

Las Hijas del Maíz.

(The Daughters of the Corn)

In the fourth year of implementation of the project 'The Daughters of the Corn', the objective has been to strengthen the capacities of Nicaraguan women exiled in Costa Rica to facilitate actions resilient that contribute to the establishment of support networks and psychosocial stability, with the novelty of a pilot test of school scholarships. It has been carried out in partnership with the Association for Communication and Hope and the leadership of Wendy Quintero.

Main results of the Project 'Daughters of the Corn' during 2025:

- 1. Psychosocial support and collective care. Participatory workshops have been held under the name Knitting Calma. These activities have allowed us to identify personal tools to deal with difficult situations associated with exile and economic precariousness. Community activities have also been promoted that have contributed to strengthening the cohesion of the group and creating safe spaces for mutual support.
- 2. Implementation of a pilot test of the solidarity school scholarship component, which has benefited 20 vulnerable Nicaraguan children through two organizations: REMUPI and ASOHUMA. Each scholarship, mainly intended for school materials, uniforms, transportation and connectivity, has contributed to ensuring educational continuity and has reduced economic barriers that hindered access to education. In addition, a space for exchange between mothers and children has been organized that has favored family communication and the identification of educational and emotional needs for the future.

Nicaragua in exile

Las Hijas del Maíz.

(The Daughters of the Corn)

3. Organizational strengthening and advocacy, Training spaces in democratic and transformative leadership have been promoted through the program Compass Nice. Three workshops have been held with the participation of up to 18 women per session, which have allowed the development of skills in communication, decision-making and organizational management. In parallel, audiovisual materials and advocacy activities have been produced that have visible the work of exiled women and their economic projects and has strengthened their public and community presence.
4. Support at fairs and productive initiatives, 12 businesses have been strengthened through seed capital and technical support and support has continued to be provided to fairspine nuts in which women have increased their visibility and sales. The women of REMUPI have had a average increase of 30% in sales compared to the first quarter of the year, according to the reports of the entrepreneurs themselves. The participants highlighted the support received as "an opportunity to reactivate our dreams, work with pride and demonstrate what Nicaraguan women are capable of doing outside our country."

Overall, the 2025 results show significant progress in the consolidation of a community network resilient and supportive.

The project not only provided material and training support, but also promoted emotional well-being, social cohesion and empowerment of women and families in a context of exile.

This set of actions establishes a solid foundation for the continuity of the project in subsequent years, with clear priorities in psychosocial support, socioeconomic integration and education.

Forecasts 2026

In 2026 the project Daughters of the Corn continues consolidating-se, with one major effort in the component educational it is flight expand the scholarship program so that 30 children Nicaraguans exiles and migrants can to have one support in the headquarters process learning. So same, will betto expand the spaces accompaniment to the mothers and fathers and a support for the his/her own education and literacy.

Parallel, it will continue supporting the sustainability of the REMUPI and the his/her self-management through the fairs monthly and the accompaniment to the business of the partners from

Gambia

Sexual and reproductive education.

We began our intervention in Gambia in 2010 at the women's training center Fandomin Tujereng, a project promoted by Solidarity. Training workshops for childbirth facilitators are carried out by our partner and project coordinator Glòria Martínez.

In the 2016 let's start the project about Sexual and reproductive education in Health Center Banyaka, first with the doctor Abdoulie K. Balde and later with the director of the center Naffie Jatta.

In the 2023 The Gambian Ministry of Health transfers the director to the town of Jambur and we considered it appropriate to start our project there, until last year when, due to internal organizational issues, we decided to end our intervention.

Even so €1,000 was allocated to ensure family planning materials:

- Pregnancy test detection kits,
- Medical supplies for family planning, condoms, pills, injectables, implants.

Senegal

Community Garden in Ndiourbel.

The decision to carry out this project stems from an initiative by Max, a Sant Justense native from the town of Ndiourbel, in Senegal. He approached Sant Just Solidari to request support for the creation of a community garden in his village of origin, led by women. An initiative of co-development.

The village of Ndiourbel has an estimated population of around 1,000 inhabitants, half of whom are women and the majority are young people under the age of 35. Economically, agriculture is the main activity dominated by traditional rainfed crops that depend largely on rainfall and are exposed to climatic risks.

Yields are low, irregular and insufficient to guarantee sustainable food security and economic stability for families.

The establishment of a two-hectare community garden represents a great strategic opportunity to achieve sustainable change in the living conditions of women and the community as a whole. By providing a productive, safe, well-equipped and self-managed space, the project will become a true pillar for women's economic empowerment, a driver of local development and a pillar of sustainable transformation for the people of Ndiourbel.

Forecasts 2026

Installation of one grate from protection metallic

Conditioning from the plot

Drilling of one well

Strengthening of the capabilities techniques, organizational and financial.

Saint Just.Community work

Continuing with the our commitment to the care of the elderly, those with reduced mobility, especially the most vulnerable in our community, this 2025 we have started a second project at the local level, Xino-Xano, which joins the existing one since 2019, En Bici Sense Edat:

- On a Bike Without Age.
- Xino-Xano

Sant Just Desvern

Cycling Without Age

In his sixth year of life, the En Bici Sense Edat program in Sant Just, enjoys excellent "health".

The recipients (beneficiaries) of the service we group them into beneficiaries Direct (Elderly people, people with reduced mobility, people with disabilities, vulnerable people and people at risk of social exclusion) and beneficiaries Indirect (relatives of direct beneficiaries, facility staff and society in general).

This is a project who fights against unwanted loneliness creates new intergenerational bonds and gives visibility to the groups we target, already live in equipment or they are private individuals residents of the municipality.

This year, thanks to the "la Caixa" Foundation we have added a new vehicle to our fleet, This is the Justa, which joins the existing three, plus the tandem, which has made it possible to lighten the management and investment in mechanics and repairs, by distributing the vehicle utilization ratio..

The project is consolidated and rooted in our municipality, being a reference and an inspiration for the rest of towns and cities, whether in Catalonia or the rest of the world, where this program that continues to grow is carried out.

One more year the volunteer team remains stable (with an equal balance between resignations and new additions) and around 100 volunteers. The volunteer work teams "mechanics", "stories", "media library" and "bike street" continue to be an important part of the entire management.

Let's participate actively in the maximum number of activities in our community, we establish collaborations with other entities, such as the project of Learning and Service (APS) with the students of the high schools of the municipality and the "prescription" of those of the CAP of Sant Just continues, since we are one of the Health assets of the Public Health Agency of Catalonia

This 2025 We have continued to work together with the Ageless Cycling Association in seeking financial support from private entities and donations.

The Call for support for social projects of the "la Caixa" Foundation has selected the En Bici Sense Edat project of Sant Just Solidari this 2025. This support has allowed us to acquire a new tricycle, called Justa, and grow the activity with more beneficiaries in our municipality.

Fundació "la Caixa"

Sant Just Desvern

Cycling Without Age

We have submitted applications for different competitions and grants (again to the "la Caixa" Foundation) and a whole line of collaboration with companies has been created through corporate social responsibility, which has already borne fruit with the "La Caixa" Foundation, as well as the support received by the companies CUMSA, Shiji Spain, Bikestocks Barcelona, and by the association International Club Sant Just Desvern. Many thanks to all of them.

We take advantage of these lines to express our gratitude to the people volunteer team members, give special recognition to users and equipment collaborators who have trusted us and valued our services as a tool to improve the well-being of their residents.

Finally, We would like to thank the unconditional support of our members, as well as to the Sant Just City Council for believing in and providing continuous support to the project.

We close a year where the main objective has been to consolidate the project, without growing, but expanding the service to individuals, and we close the year having more than achieved it. Congratulations and thank you.

Forecasts 2026

Consolidate without significantly increasing activity, with these main objectives.

- If a grant is obtained presented to the La Caixa Foundation, invest in improvements to vehicles, management tools and human resources.
- Continue to provide service to all beneficiary groups in our municipality.
- Continue investing in the search for financing.
